

Top 10 Reasons to choose Kirkhaven

Some rehab centers do not offer physical therapy on the weekend. If you are admitted on a Friday, you may not begin your road to recovery until the following Monday.

Some rehab centers allow only 30 minutes for your individual therapy sessions.

Some rehab centers rely on per diem and agency staffing. Your primary nurse may change many times during your stay.

Some rehab centers serve everyone from a one-size-fits-all menu. You may endure an array of low-sodium, low-fat, unseasoned meals to accommodate everyone's diet.

Some rehab centers have restricted visitation. You may miss seeing your friends and family because they aren't available during the "regularly scheduled hours".

Some rehab centers have simply added PT to their nursing home offerings. Kirkhaven employs a staff that specializes in "short-term" rehabilitation therapy with attention to discharge planning, post-discharge education and follow-up. Through our health care network, we can also access a wide array of therapists with specific advanced training.

Some rehab centers depend on filling their beds with rehab patients who have not researched their options ahead of time and do not state a preference! Know your options! If you are anticipating a surgery that will require a short-term rehab stay, don't wait! Schedule a tour in advance with Kirkhaven's Transitional Care Center.
